

Cooked: Survival by Zip Code
A film by Judith Helfand
Wednesday, August 30 @ 7:30 pm ET,
6:30 pm CT, 5:30 pm MT, 4:30 pm PT

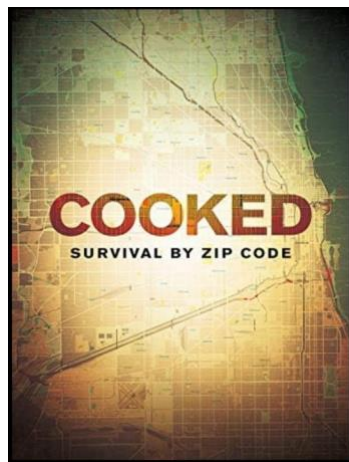

Zoom Registration Required:

<https://us02web.zoom.us/join/9127565007>

In 1995, Chicago had the worst heat wave in U.S. history. In just 4 days, it killed 739 people. This film tells the story.

After the film we will have an open discussion followed by these panelists:

- Judith Helfand, director/producer
- Lonette Sims, People's Response Network
- Orrin Williams, Center for Urban Transformation
- Shimekia Nichols: Soulardarity,
- Leo Carney: American Descendants of Slavery
- Raoul Contreras, Latino Studies Professor, Indiana University

We'll conclude with next steps for Climate Thrive & Survive Networks

Sponsors:

People's Response Network (PRN)

Radical Elders

Unitarian Universalists for a Just Economic Community

Soulardarity of Michigan

American Descendants of Slavery

Mississippi Rising

Radical Elders

